Instructions for the teacher.

Students are going to discuss where to go camping together. They will need to choose from 3 different camping locations.

1. Before class, print off and cut up the sections of the text - you will need enough for each student.
2. On the board write the three camping location names: White Sands Bay, Green Hill Forest and Rocky Moor. Explain that each group is going to go on a one-week camping trip together and they have to decide on which of these three places to go to.
3. Put students into groups of three and give each student their 2 texts about different camping locations. If you end up with an extra student or two have them join a group of three to make a group of 4. Then give the 4th student 2 of the texts.
4. Give 5 minutes for students to read their texts. Tell them they have to remember as much as they can because you will take the texts away from them.
5. After 5 minutes collect the texts. The groups discuss the three potential locations to go camping. Give a time limit to come up with a group decision. At the end, each group must decide on one place.
6. End with a class discussion and find out the most popular camping destination.
A camping trip

Texts for Student A

White Sands Bay

Your friend has told you the following about camping at White Sands Bay:

- Beautiful, long, sandy beaches
- Remote and quite - extremely peaceful
- Very natural, well away from the tourist traps
- Clean air and crystal clear sea
- The locals keep themselves to themselves - never any problems

Green Hill Forest

Your friend has told you the following about camping at Green Hill Forest:

- A small forest on a hill - not very natural as was planted only 16 years ago
- As it is so close to the capital city it gets overrun with tourists in the holiday season and at weekends
- Too many modern campsites with all the mod cons. You aren’t allowed to camp outside of a camping area
- Lots of schools groups doing tours such as hiking and tree top walking
- Doesn’t feel natural as there are lots of cafes and supply stores
A camping trip

Texts for Student B

Green Hill Forest

Your friend has told you the following about camping at Green Hill Forest:

- Stunning natural scenery - a beautiful mountain forest
- Only an hour’s drive from the capital city with great public transport options
- Plenty of camp sites available with amazing amenities
- Hiking, fishing, horse riding and tree top walking tours available
- Lots of places to eat and buy provisions - you can even buy cappuccinos and a daily newspaper every morning

Rocky Moor

Your friend has told you the following about camping at Rocky Moor:

- Remote, harsh and desolate - a rough moorland with low, spikey gorse bushes
- The only thing to do is walk and camp. Even the ponies are so shy that they run away when they hear anyone coming.
- The hill tops are often covered in fog - you’ll rarely get a good view
- The weather is usually bad - expect wind, rain and lots of snow in winter
- People rarely visit. Make sure you leave your itinerary with the local police before you leave, otherwise you may never be found if you get lost
A camping trip

Texts for Student C

Rocky Moor

Your friend has told you the following about camping at Rocky Moor:

- A lovely spot to escape to: full of wild flowers and animals such as wild ponies
- Lots of walking trails through pristine natural countryside
- Stunning views from the highest points
- Experience snow in winter or warm sunshine in summer - 4 beautiful and varied seasons
- Huge space to lose yourself in without being bothered by anyone

White Sands Bay

Your friend has told you the following about camping at White Sands Bay:

- Nothing much there apart from long sandy beaches
- Nothing to do apart from sunbathe and swim, if the weather is nice
- Often windy and the seas is freezing cold
- No cafes, restaurants or clubs - just a village with a small shop
- The locals are not friendly at all and dislike visitors
